Remembering October 7: A Community-Wide Day of Remembrance

On Wednesday, October 7, the St. Louis Kaplan Feldman Holocaust Museum and Jewish Federation of St. Louis will come together for Remembering October 7, a community-wide day of remembrance, reflection, and healing.

Three years after the October 7 attacks in Israel, we invite our community to join us throughout the day to remember those whose lives were lost, preserve the experiences of our St. Louis community, and honor the resilience of the Israeli people.

10 AM–3 PM - Through Artifacts & Stories
The Museum is issuing its first-ever call for artifact donations to the St. Louis Jewish Community Archives. Community members are invited to bring objects, photographs, documents, artwork, correspondence, and personal testimonies related to October 7 and its aftermath to the Museum. There will also be an opportunity to record a short video reflection.

4:45 – 6:45 PM - Through Those We Lost
Join us in the Museum lobby as we read aloud the names of the victims of October 7, followed by a candle lighting and moment of commemoration. All are welcome to attend in person or watch the livestream.

Livestream

7–9 PM - Through Healing: St. Louis Premiere of The Bridge
The evening will conclude with the St. Louis premiere of The Bridge, a documentary following 10 young Israeli survivors of October 7 as they travel to Los Angeles for Rock 'n' Roll Fantasy Camp and find connection and healing through music and community.

All events will take place at the St. Louis Kaplan Feldman Holocaust Museum, in partnership with the Jewish Federation of St. Louis. The day is free and open to the community. Advance registration is required for The Bridge.

Join us for Blue Star Museum Week: September 26 - October 4

We are proud to be a Blue Star Museum this Fall. Active military personnel and their families can visit the Museum's permanent exhibit for free September 26 - October 4. We thank you for your service and can't wait for your visit.

Artifact Feature

This is the fishing permit of young Werner Daniels. This license was purchased in June of 1931, when he was 14 years old. The front shows the district the permit is valid in, and the back shows the fish allowed and size minimum. The inside has a photo of young Werner and his information needed for the permit. In 1936, he left Germany to go to the University of Manchester and after graduation moved to the United States because he knew he could not return home. When the U.S. joined the war, he was drafted into the Army. He quickly was transferred to a secret military camp in Maryland, Camp Ritchie. There, he was trained in interrogation tactics to gather intelligence for the Allied forces, making use of his native German language skills. Be sure to check out more about Werner Daniels in the current pop-up exhibit: "You Must Learn from Your Enemy": The Ritchie Boys of St. Louis.

Upcoming Events

An original exhibition created by the St. Louis Kaplan Feldman Holocaust Museum, Nazis Next Door, explores the ways in which Missourians, particularly St. Louisans, made the choice to support or resist Nazi ideas of extremism and antisemitism right here at home.
